Attached is the re-draft of counterintelligence standards prepared by the Department of State. It tracks with my ref note.

Frederick thinks that there may be some confusion at the 8 November SCC meeting since it does not seem that all the principals are indeed familiar with all the issues. He seems to feel that the principals, rather than cope with CI and FI standards in separate documents at separate meetings, should perhaps use the meeting on the 8th to air their views and decide on what, if anything, both standards should contain in the way of mandatory reporting and the exercise of discretion. Perhaps they should then leave it to the scribes to implement, by drafting proposed standards for both categories, with various dissents and alternatives, and let the principals make their final decisions at a subsequent SCC meeting.
